HAMBURG HAS SURRENDERED

FALL OF BIG NAZI PORT TO BRITISH CAME THURSDAY

ENTIRE ENEMY POSITION IN NORTHERN GERMANY APPEARED DISSOLVING

By TOM OCHILTREE
Associated Press War Editor.

Hamburg, Germany's second city, surrendered to the British Second army a few hours after the great port of 1,682,220 nad been declared an open city by its radio.

The entire enemy position in Northern Germany appeared to be dissolving. In that area the nazis were split into untenable pockets by a linkup of British airborne troops and Russian tanks near Wismar.

In Stockholm a responsible diplomat said developments clearing up the situation regarding the German garrisons holding out in Denmark and Norway "might occur today." He offered no details, but emphasized that the situation was so fluid a break might come at any moment.

Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, Germany's new fuehrer, has declared Prague a "hospital city," the Germans said. That announcement indicated that the Czechoslovak capital and the largest Nazi-held city in the south would not be defended.

All fighting in Northern Italy and Western Austria has ceased under the unconditional surrender agreement accepted by German Gen. Heinrich von Vietinghoff-Scheel.

The surrender yesterday, which yielded nearly 1,000,000 German and Italian Fascist troops, opened the mountainous heart of the Nazis' shrinking Alpine redoubt, now about to be split by a junction of U. S. Third Army troops with the Russians around the Austrian city of Linz.

Few Unoccupied Cities.

With the loss of Berlin, Hamburg, Luebeck and Rostock, the only large German cities remaining [illegible] swastika were Breslau, [illegible] Chemnitz and Kiel. At [illegible] the Britaish were 38 mils [illegible] Kiel and 85 mils from th Danish frontier.

In Berlin the toll of fallen German prisoners taken by the Russians reached approximately 100,000.

Berlin, the fourth largest city in the world, with a peacetime population of 4,335,000, surrendered yesterday to troops of the First White Russian and First Ukrainian armies after 12 days fighting.

Nothing on Hitler.

Theer was no further word from the fallen Reich capital on the fate of Adolf Hitler, but the belief grew in Moscow that his body might turn up. By a captive

SOVIET COMMUNIQUE CLAIMS HITLER AND GOEBBELS SUICIDED

LITTLE DOUBT REMAINS AMONG ALLIED LEADERS THAT FUEHRER IS DEAD

By ROMNEY WHEELER

LONDON, May 3.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler, who vowed to rule the world, committed suicide in the ruins of Berlin with Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels and the chief of the German general staff, Gen. Hans Krebs, a Soviet communique said today.

The Russians declared their informant was Dr. Hans Fritsche, Goebbels, chief lieutenant, who was captured as Berlin fell.

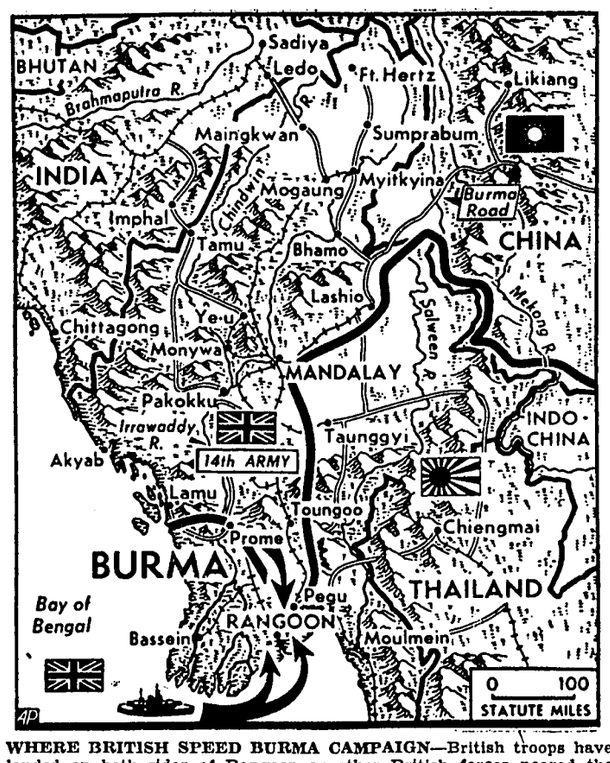

Whether Hitler was a suicide or whether he was the victim of a brain hemorrhage, a possibility reported by supreme Allied headquarters, there was little doubt among Allied leaders that the Fuehrer indeed was dead and that he had met death in a manner which would thwart any die-hard Nazi attempt to build a Wagnerian legend about him.

A statement authorized by the supreme Allied command told of a secret meeting eight days ago at Luebeck, Germany, between zGestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler and Swedish Count Folke Bernadotte, reputed peace go-between at which Himler was reported to have said, "Hitler is so ill he might already be dead."

Himmler was quoted as saying Hitler at that time could not live more than two days longer. A German general named Schillenburg, who was present at the meeting, said Hitler had been stricken with a brain hemorrhage.

Captured Field Marshal von Rundstedt, former Nazi commander on the Western front, supported the idea that Hitler was a victim of his own diseased brain. Told of the German reports of the Fuehrer's death, he replied that Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz had been at the helm of battered Germany for some time. He said that the last time he had seen Hitler, the Fuehrer was "shaking like he had palsy."

Lt. Gen. Kurt Dittmar, onetime radio voice of the Nazi high command and now a U. S. Ninth Army captive, said he did not doubt the report of Hitler's death. He declared Hitler had "assumed a moral obligation" to remain in Berlin to the end.

GERMAN OCCUPATION OF FRANCE REIGN OF COMPLETE TERROR

FILLED WITH BRUTALITY AND CRUELTY ON "UNEQUALLED SCALE"

By ROBERT WILSON

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, May 3.—(AP)—The German occupation of France was described by supreme headquarters today as a reign of terror willed with brutality and cruelty "on a scale unequalled in history."

The indictment was made in a documented study by the psychological warfare division "to convince possible skeptics that German atrocities are not just a lot of propaganda."

The study consists of 13 volumes of reports on German crimes throughout France, collected by American and British officers with the help of the French intelligence service. It will be published soon in the United States and Britain.

In some cases confessions have already been obtained from Germans who were subsequently taken prisoner.

The conclusion of allied officers who visited scores of French villages, interviewed witnesses and collected photographs of atrocities was: "The whole thing was a part of a fixed policy of brutal repression if not extermination."

Mass Executions.

The study embraced these categories of crimes: Mass execution of hostages, mass execution of resistance movement members or suspects, mass reprisals, indiscriminate shooting and sacking of the towns, routine methods of interrogation by torture, rape and miscel-

THOUSANDS GERMANS SURRENDER IN FALL OF REICH CAPITAL

HUSH OF DEAD NATION LAY OVER SMOKING, BROKEN BERLIN

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, May 3.—(AP)—Thousands of dirty and unshaven Germans shuffled through the Brandenburg Gate under the pillars of victory in fallen Berlin today to lay down their arms where goose-stepping Prussians formerly paraded their triumphs.

The hush of a dead nation lay over the smoking, broken capital, interrupted only by occasional explosions in the ruins.

There was no further information on the fate of Hitler or his propaganda minister, Paul Joseph Goebbels, who were said by Goebbels' deputy to have committed suicide when their dream of Berlin as the capital of the world collapsed about them. But the Russians were checking the story.

One well-known Soviet commentator, Nikolai Tikhonev, declared in Pravda that "Hitler is not in Berlin."

"Whether he fled to his devil's nest, to the other world or to the embraces of some fascist protectorate it's all the same. He isn't in Berlin. We'll find out what actually happened to him, and if he has fled we'll find him no mat-

BIG FOUR PLAN FOR ALL-POWERFUL WORLD COUNCIL ATTACKED

ISSUE, GROWING IN IMPORTANCE, TO TEST AMERICAN LEADERSHIP

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Diplomatic News Editor

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3—(AP)—The Big Four plan for an all-powerful world council to guard future peace today was attacked by several nations at the United Nations conference. They want to put peace-keeping on a more regional basis.

The issue, growing in importance as the work of the conference speeds up, appears certain to impose a severe test of American leadership.

The United States is seeking both to promote the creation of a world-wide security system and to fit into it such regional organizations as the Pan-American system allowing the development of regional blocks.

So far the American delegation under Secretary of State Stettinius has avoided a showdown among its own members on the sort of formula it may support.

As proposals poured in for reshaping the Dumbarton Oaks proposals on the power of the security council to use force, there were these other developments in this bustling conference city:

Other Developments

1. Stettinius started a drive to keep as many foreign Ministers as possible here throughout the conference despite the pressure of their war-end problems at home. Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov plans to leave in a few days; British Foreign Secretary Edens plans to stay at least another week.

2. Molotov, Eden and Stettinius conferred yesterday on Poland trying to clear the way for reorganization of the Warsaw government. Last night those three and Foreign Minister Soong of China previewed future conference problems, seeking to line them up before Molotov leaves.

3. The American delegation decided that Argentina should get no officer position at the conference.

4. Foreign Minister Georges Bidault of France told a news conference his government could ac-

BERLIN SURRENDERS TO BATTLING SOVIET FORCES WEDNESDAY

NAZI CAPITAL AND FOURTH LARGEST CITY IN WORLD FALLS IN 12 DAYS

LONDON, May 3.—(AP)—Marshal Stalin announced tonight that British and Soviet troops had effected a junction on a 60-mile front from the Baltic to Wittenberge.

An order of the day addressed to Marshal Konstantin Dokossovsky's Second White Russian army said the Soviets had overwhelmed the final enemy resistance on the Mecklenburg Pitin.

The entire North German pocket up to Schleswig-Holstein was rubbed out.

LONDON May 3—(AP)—Berlin, the Nazi capital and fourth largest city of the world, surrendered yesterday to troops of two Russian armies, and 70,000 of the city's defenders gave up the fight which had raged for 12 deadly days through streets and subways.

The city fell at 3 p. m. to troops of the First White Russian and First Ukrainian armies, Premier Marshal Stalin announced in an order of the day. He disclosed also that Russian forces had destroyed the German Ninth army, trapped southeast of Berlin, killing 60,000 men and capturing 120,000, and had overrun the last of Germany's big Baltic ports Rostock and Warnemuende.

In Moscow, the fall of Berlin was celebrated with an official salute of 24 salvos from 324 cannon. The long-awaited victory was hailed by Russians in the streets with dancing, shouting and general hilarity. Moscow dispatches said belief was evident everywhere in the capital that the end of the war could be expected at any time.

The victorious Russian armies, headed by Marshals G. K. Zhukov and Ivan S. Konev, entered Berlin on April 21, after jumping across the Oder. They swarmed into the 341-square-mile city, already battered from American and British air raids, and laid it low in 12 days of some of the bitterest street fighting in history.

The collapse of Berlin, symbol of German power, came two years and three months after the tide of battle was turned at Stalingrad. And Russian troops who swarmed over the German capital found that most of the city's monumental buildings were largely destroyed from 77,000

Juvenile Probe Now Under Way; Jury Takes Over

With Bruce Nutt, police chief of Corsicana, as its first witness Thursday morning, the April term grand jury inaugurated its investigation into the juvenile delinquency question in Corsicana and Navarro county.

The probers were re-convened Wednesday by A. P. Mays, district judge, who issued a sweeping special charge to the quizzers to go into the matter fully, from all angles, and without restraint, charging them to investigate officers, whether a truant officer is needed or desired, and whether a curfew ordinance is needed.

Statements By Officers

J. C. Roe, county attorney, and Sheriff Cap Curington, issued statements Thursday morning with reference to the matter. Judge Mays did not have any additional statements to those he made to the grand jury Wednesday. Police Chief Nutt declined to make a statement for publication on the eve of his appearance before the grand jury headed by C. C. Roberts, foreman.

Foreman Roberts Wednesday issued a statement inviting all who desired to appear before the investigating arm of the law enforcement agencies.

Sheriff Curington revealed Thursday that he had summoned ap-

FIGHTING IS ENDED IN NORTHERN ITALY AS NAZIS SURRENDER

NEW ZEALAND TROOPS OCCUPY TRIESTE AND GORIZIA THURSDAY

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ROME, May 3—(AP)—With fighting ended in Northern Italy, New Zealand troops stepped into disputed Istria today and occupied the port of Trieste and the Isonzo river town of Gorizia, 20 miles to the northwest.

Fighting has ceased in Northern Italy west of the Isonzo river with the unconditional surrender of all enemy troops under the command of German army group C," said an Allied headquarters communique.

Gen. Heinrich Von Vietinghoff-Scheel, whose representatives signed an agreement for the unconditional surrender of almost 1,000,000 troops Sunday, was expected to come out of the hills to give up personally.

The Allied command said that been taken prior to the capitulabeen taken prior to the capitulation, and that hostilities had ended in the area of Von Vietinghoff's command west of the Isonzo river.

The surrender of the German garrison at Trieste was accepted at 4:30 p. m., yesterday by Lt. Gen. Sir Bernard C. Freyberg, commander in chief of the New Zealand Second Corps, the communique said.

Nearly Million Troops

The unconditional surrender which yielded nearly 1,000,000 German and Italian Fascist troops yesterday opened the mountainous heart of the Nazis National Redoubt area of the Alps. The Southern flank of what remains of the Redoubt was laid bare to the Allies in the south.

The surrender ended all resistance in Northern Italy and Western Austria. The Allies in the south were in a position to march unopposed to within ten miles of Berchtesgaden, where Hitler has made his mountain home and fortress.

MANY JUVENILES STAY OUT LATE AT NIGHT FOR DANCES

GIRLS SHOULD BE CHAPERONED, ACCORDING TO STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Many juveniles are out late at dances or other night spots in and around Corsicana, particularly girls, who should be at home with their parents or chaperoned, Gordon Climer, district veneral disease investigator of the State Department of Health, stated Wednesday.

Climer said that it was sometimes difficult to exactly determine a youth's age by looking at him. "But I have observed a good many young fellows who looked not to be over 17 years old, who were considerably intoxicated," he said. Climer expressed the opinion that there definitely is a juvenile delinquency problem here.

Records Available.

Climer has complete statistical records on the number of cases of juvenile girls and boys with venereal disease who have come to the clinic voluntarily for treatment or who have been contacted through information received from the U. S. army and other branches of the armed services.

"The high schools could be rotten with venereal disease and our department would know little or nothing about it because we have no way of getting the information," he said. Climer pointed out that physicians here and in other counties over the district are reluctant to give the names of patients they trent for venereal diseases because fearful that the patients will learn that their names

VARIOUS INTERPRETATIONS OF V-E DAY, WHEN IT WILL COME AND WHETHER IT HAS PASSED

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
Substituting for DeWitt MacKenzie

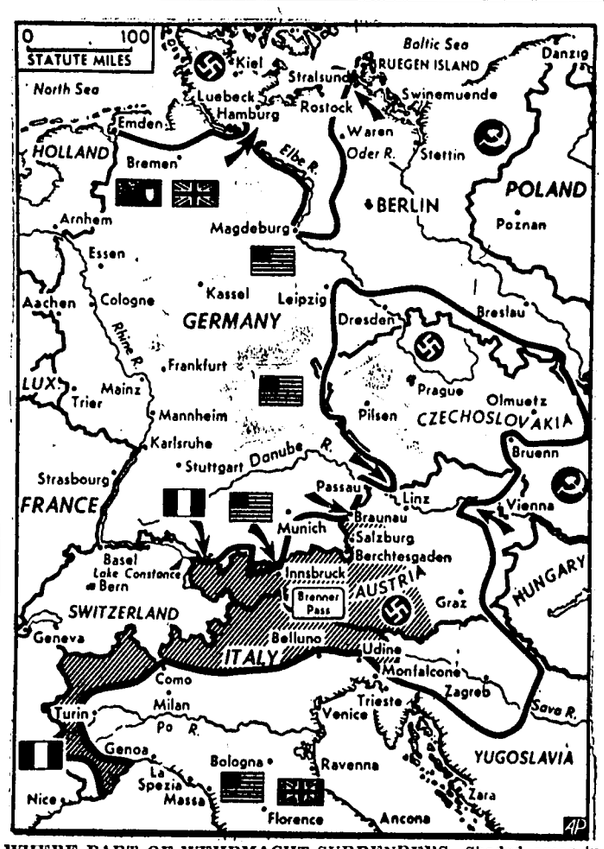

The impulse this morning is to write "This is V-E Day" It would be, if allied men were not still fighting and dying in the pockets which the last fanatical Germans can't hold out but refuse to surrender completely. Or it would be if V-E Day had not already passed.

Historians will argue that V-E Day was the day in 1940 that Hitler failed to invade England, or the day he beat himself by invading Russia, the day he was turned back at Stalingrad or El Alamein, or the day he failed to throw the allies off the Normandy beaches.

Whatever the verdict, the day when Germany changed her military policy, stopped fighting for key centers and began to declare them open cities, will stand as a great climax of the war. We are down to the mop-up, and it begins to look as though the final days of guerrilla warfare may not be so extensive or so exasperating as once expected.

Without Hamburg, Prague, Munich, Berlin, Stettin, Vienna, Bremen or any important hedgehog left, only heaven knows why any Germans keep fighting. Probably only on mad momentum—plus the fact that we haven't arrived yet at all the army headquarters to accept all the surrenders that all the nazi commanders haven't had the opportunity for their last little "honor satisfying" battle to save them from the "ignomy" of surrendering without firing a shot.

The end of resistance in Holland, Denmark, Norway and the remaining continental pockets seems merely a matter of arrangements. We are in the middle of the greatest military surrender in all history.

BRITISH SOLDIERS SMASH INTO RANGOON IN BURMA CAMPAIGN

LAND, SEA AND AIR ACTIVITY CONTINUES HIGH IN PACIFIC SECTOR

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

British soldiers smashed into Rangoon, supposedly defended by 30,000 trapped Japanese, in the climatic fight of the Burma campaign and the outstanding development today in the Pacific War.

In other actions British and French warships bombarded islands lying between Rangoon and Singapore for the third successive day; Superforts blasted airfields in southern Japan for the 13th time in five weeks; tank-led American infantrymen drove a mile deep wedge into Okinawa defenses 325 miles south of Japan; picked Australians opening the Borneo campaign pushed from oil-soaked beaches into dominating jungle-covered ridges; and the most decorated Yanks in the Pacific reached the gates of Japanese-held Davao in the Southern Philippines without a long anticipated battle.

The breakthrough into Rangoon came in a quick follow-up of a double landing by parachute and amphibious troops south of the Burmese capital while an armored column pushed down from the north.

Would Finish Campaign

Fall of Rangoon, which in Burmese means "end of the war," would signify the virtual finish of the Burma campaign. Nipponese to the north have either been encircled or are in flight across

Denmark, Norway Situation May Be Cleared Up Today

By ROBERT N. STURDEVANT

STOCKHOLM, May 3—(AP)—A responsible diplomat who cannot be more closely identified said developments clearing up the situation regarding German garrisons holding out in Denmark and Norway 'might occur today."

The diplomat offered no details in support of his statement, but emphasized that the situation was so fluid a break might come at any moment.

Previously Swedish authorities expressed anxiety concerning the effect grand Admiral Karl Doenitz's apparent control of a Rump German government might have on the chances for a bloodless capitulation in Norway and Denmark.

Danish underground sources said Werner Rest, German plenipotentiary in Denmark, had been called to a conference with Doenitz somewhere in what remains of Northern Germany.

The Free Danish press service reported conditions of dissolution of the Wehrmacht in Denmark, with local German commanders taking matters into their own hands in view of the bewildering confusion of orders and counter-orders coming from higher levels

COLLAPSE OF NAZI DEFENSE IN NORTH REPORTED THURSDAY

RUSSIANS LINK UP WITH BRITISH ALONG SIXTY-MILE FRONT EAST OF KIEL

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

PARIS, May 3—(AP)—Hamburg surrendered to the British army today and Marshal Stalin announced from Moscow the collapse of German resistance in the entire northern German pocket East of Kiel.

Stalin's order of the day said a link with the British had been established along a 60-mile front from the Baltic to Wittenberge on the Elbe after the overwhelming of the last German resistance on the Mecklenburg plain.

Remnants of one beaten German division after another surrendered as the war in Europe drew toward a close.

Denmark and Norway were isolated by the British-Russian junction.

Canadian tactical air force planes smashed a large concentration of German shipping evacuating military personnel fleeing from small Baltic ports toward Denmark and continued destruction of German land transport going in the same direction.

Stalin said the towns of Barth, site of a prisoner of war camp for American fliers, Doberan, Neubu- captured and a link made with British troops on the 'Wismar-Wittenberge line."

Wismar Is On Baltic

Wismar is on the Baltic where Allied quarters previously had announced a linkup and Wittenberge is on the Elbe northwest of Berlin.

The largest of many German death traps were shrinking in the south, where Gen. Eisenhower's three-army assault moved close to a junction with the Russians in Eastern Austria. The Third army moved to within 30 miles of Berchtesgaden and the Seventh closed to within seven of Innsbruck.

The Seventh army got astride a superhighway East of Munich and its faird division raced within 27 miles of both Berchtesgaden and Salzburg in a drive across the Inn river from the west. Heavy snowdrifts delayed the advance on Innsbruck. Civilian refugees said the garrison there was ready to surrender but that SS troops were preparing to defend the Western edge of the Tyrol capital.

Rear Thrown Open

Field Marshal Kesselring's rear had been thrown wide open by the surender of nearly 1,000,000 Germans opposing the Allies on the Italian front. Gains in the south ranged up to 28 miles.

Hamburg was the second largest city of Germany and its leading port. The metropolis of 1,682,220 on the lower Elbe had long since been devastated by American and British bombs. Its Blohm and Voss shipyards and Deutsche Werke submarine works had spanned much of Germany's fleet and merchant marine. Its Deutsche refinery had

HAMBURG AND PRAGUE DECLARED OPEN AND "HOSPITAL" CITIES

REGIME OF NEW FUEHRER FURTHER HAMPERED BY THESE ACTIONS

By JAMES K. KING

LONDON, May 3.—(AP)—The Germans declared Hamburg, their greatest port and the core of resistance in the north, an open city and surrendered it today to British Second army troops without a fight. Prague, Czechoslovak capital, was declared a "hospital city."

The regime of the new fuehrer, Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, was thus further hampered in its announced intention of carrying on the suicidal fight.

The British marched into Hamburg at 1 p.m. (7 a.m., Eastern War Time).

Just an hour before Doenitz, who had exclaimed defiantly against surrender when he assumed Hitler's bloody mantle, indicated a willingness to turn Prague over to the western Allies.

An order of the day later broadcast from Prague by Dr. Karl Frank, German minister of state for Bohemia and Moravia, pledged allegiance to Doenitz and the mem-

PRESIDENT VETOES DRAFT DEFERMENT FOR FARM WORKERS

HOUSE IMMEDIATELY STARTS ACTION HOPING TO OVERRIDE VETO

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP)—Backers of broad farm-draft deferment legislation won the first round today in a house fight to override President Truman's veto of the bill.

They turned back, by a record vote of 194 to 168, a motion to send the legislation back to the military committee, which woud have had the effect of pigeonholing it at least temporarily.

The house proceeded immediately to consideration of whether to sustain or override Mr. Truman's first major veto with one hour of debate provided.

The vote to prevent recommital indicated supporters of the legislation lacked the required two-thirds vote to override.

It was Mr. Truman's first tussle with congress since he became President April 12.

OTHER CHANGES IN TRUMAN'S CABINET EXPECTED BE MADE

FIRST CHANGE NAMING OF ROBERT E. HANNEGAN AS POSTMASTER GENERAL

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON, May 3—(AP)—Democratic leaders look for a new Labor Secretary or Attorney General soon to join President Truman's first cabinet appointee—Robert E. Hannegan as Postmaster General.

Meanwhile, they waited to see what reaction Mr. Truman's renomination of TVA chairman David E. Lilienthal would have.

Federal Judge Lewis B. Schwellenbach of Washington State, a former Senator, is said by friends to be in line for the labor post held more than 12 years by Miss Frances Perkins.

Some, however, are plugging him for Attorney General to succeed Francis Biddle.

Mr. Truman at his news conference yesterday announced the long-expected resignation of Frank C. Walker, of Pennsylvania and New York, and the nomination of Hannegan, a Missourian, to succeed him. Hannegan will retain his Democratic National Committee chairmanship.

Mr. Truman at the same time told reporters he was proposing a second nine-year term for Lilienthal as chairman of the vast Tennessee Valley Authority.

Both nominations are subject to Senate confirmation.

Walker will return to Scranton, Pa., to run his chain of theaters. He resigned April 16, but his resignation was accepted "reluctantly and grudgingly" as of June 30. Meanwhile he will complete a reorganization of the postal department.

Hannegan will be 42 June 30. A former U. S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue and St. Louis Democratic leader, he succeeded Walker as Democratic National Chairman Jan. 22, 1944.

Walker has been Postmaster General since 1940.

ory of Hitler, but mentioned no further resistance.

"For us the fuehrer is not dead," the order said. "The oath of allegiance we swore to him from now on is valid for every German to Admiral Doenitz. We will stand at his side and obey his command. Everyone must do his duty. Long live the nation."

Russian armies under Marshals Andrei Yeremenko and Rodion Y. Malinovsky last were reported by Moscow dispatches to be massing on the southeastern border of Bohemia for a push towar Prague.

The announcment of Hamburg's capitulation, read over a station which has been the voice of the German high command since the Russians battered into Berlin, said: "It is doubtful whether we will again come on the air with news. We take leave of our listeners. Long live Hamburg! Long live Germany!"

Comes After Berlin Fall

The announcement concerning Hamburg came less than 12 hours after Premier Marshal Stalin had announced the capture of Berlin by his besieging Russian forces.

The broadcast was made in the German language in the name of Secretary of State Ahrendt.

"Any resistance by the populace will be crushed by force of arms," the German announcement said. "all traffic on the streets must stop at noon while the British take over the city. Hamburg police will remain on duty."

The Hamburg station over which the order was broadcast was the last authoritative radio station in German hands.

Greatest German Seaport

Hamburg, with a pre-war population of 1,682,220, is Germany's greatest seaport and the center about which German resistance in the north ordinarily would be marshalled.

It was the first of the Germans' cities to be declared open and undefended.

It was considered possible that the notorious Lord Haw Haw, the British traitor William Joyce, who became a tool of the Nazis, might fall into British hands. Only two days ago he broadcast from Hamburg.

Following the official announcement that the city would give up without a fight, instructions were given to he populace.

Skeleton staffs must be kept in factories and offices during the occupation. Electric power plants and water works must remain fully staffed but these workers must obtain special permits.

Transport Ends at Noon

Public transport will end at noon as the British move into the city.

If civilian behavior is proper, the curfew will be lifted quickly and all return to their usual occupations, the broadcast said.

The city had been reported recently in a chaotic condition as the Second army forged a siege arc. British artillery has been pounding Hamburg's defenses.

Hamburg is located on the mouth of the Elbe river, 70 miles from the North Sea.

As a world harbor in pre-war days, Hamburg was considered second only to London and New York. Today, however, the city's docks are a mass of wreckage from constant Allied bombings.

Prague Announcement

Regarding Prague the Hamburg radio said, "any disturbance of a quiet and orderly development—which can only serve to spread and cause Bolshevik chaos—will be crushed by force of arms," said the order, issued by the German minister of state for Bohemia and Moravin, at the direction of the new fuehrer.

The Prague development reversed the reiterated Nazi proclamations of last week that "even if Berlin falls, Prague will be the last citadel against bolshevism."

Prague was occupied by the Germans March 15, 1939, in a bloodless coup ,after Hitler beat down Presiden Emil Hacha in conferences at Berlin.

A day later Hitler made an appearance in the Czech capital, and received the salute of a parade past the balcony of Hradcany Castle.

The agency said many commanders have negotiated with local authorities about technical preparations for capitulation and a few others actually had withdrawn their troops, although the Germans in the main still held their grip on the country, particularly in Copenhagen.

There was no clarification last night of the situation in Denmark, where since early Tuesday there had been definite signs that the Germans were evacuating the island of Sjaelland.

Where German Troops Are.

A government source estimated that about 30,000 German troops were stationed on Sjaelland and in Copenhagen, where the first evidence of an evacuation had been reported. The best troops are scattered in Jutland in strength estimated at from 60,000 to 100,000 men.

The Luxembourg radio said today many German commanders in Zeeland and Jutland were surrendering to Danish mayors, and that German rule in Denmark appeared to be nearing its end.

Most of the Nazified Danish auxiliary police in Copenhagen had thrown away their uniforms and disappeared, but some were digging trenches outside central police headquarters, the Free Danish press service said. Some shooting was heard in the capital.

The press service said the whole resistance movement was mobilized to act at any moment developments warranted.

ter where he has found shelter."

100,000 Captured.

The toll of captured Germans in the capital, originally announced last night as 70,000, grew to 100,000.

The first Soviet eyewitness story on the capital's capitulation was written for Pravda by War Correspondent Jacob Macarenko.

As irionical as it was symbolical he said, was the fact that the actual surrender took place at the Tiergarten, Berlin's once beautiful central park, betwten Victory Avenue—which bisects the Tiergarten from north to south—and the pillars of victory of the Brandenburg Gate.

He said Berlin's Templehof airdrome already was being used by Russian planes.

"Immediately after capitulation the city's streets comenced to fill with the foe's battalions headed toward the appointed gathering place," MacArenko reported.

City of White Flags.

"The whole city is covered with white flags."

The correspondent met a soldier, Ivan Terekhin, a veteran of Stalingrad who was watching the sullen nazis pile up their arms.

"This dog was at Staraya Russa" muttered Terekhin. "This one was at Lenmgrad. This one was at Kaluga and this one was even at Stalingrad."

"They piled their guns, one after another on the ground" Macarenko wrote. "After surrendering their weapons they were headed for the outskirts in columns stretching for many kilometers. The Germans looked sadly from side to side at their wrecked capital.

"We have seen old men and 15-year-old boys shuffling down the streets in columns seemingly without end.

Hoped For Nothing.

"I asked Capt. Heinrich Schultz what the Germans hoped for. 'We hoped for nothing. We were ordered to hold out. Back of us stood the stormtroopers ready to shoot us in the back,' he answered."

"The Germans lost hundreds of their aces over the capital," one dispatch reported. "On Berlin's 40 airdromes at the start of the battle there were about 1,500 planes."

Symbolically the last point the Russians stormed was the Freiderich Edbert Strasse which runs through the Brandenburg Gate at the east end of the Tiergarten. Here, at this gate, stands the German "column of Victory" with its stone statue of Mars, god of war.

It is near here that the last Greman shot was fired. It was around this spot that hundreds of German officers marched stiffly from their Tiergarten hideout, hands above their heads, in sullen surrender. Frowning down upon the scene was the statue of Frederich the Great.

From dawn on, Russian soldiers, flushed with their victory, strolled up and down Unter Den Linden and through the Tiergarten, inspecting nazi defenses.

BACK IN STATES—Pvt. Paul S. Brent, 26, U. S. Army, signal corps battalion, has arrived back in the States from his overseas assignment in the European Theatre, acording to information received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Brent, 902 South Seventeenth street. Entering the service, April 2, 1941, the soldier went overseas Sept. 5, 1942. The message said he would be home soon on furlough. Two brothers are also in the service, Pfc. Charles R. Brent, Army Air Forces Grand Island, Nebraska, and Jimmie Lee Brent, SM-3C, San Francisco, Calif.

jungle trails to Thailand. Capture of Pegu, Pyawbwe and entrance of troops into Prome—all north of Rangoon—were reported today.

Rangoon, famed for its bejeweled Buddhist temples, is a potential staging base, now within range of Allied bombers from Borneo. Along the route to Singapore, the East Indies fleet continued its bombardment of Port Blair yesterday.

Tarakan Invasion

Press dispatches from Tarakan, oil producing island off the northeast coast of Borneo, reported that the first day of the Australian invision insured quick development of an air base there. Gen. Douglas MacArthur said this would complete the chain of air fields in the Southwest Pacific." That would put them within range of Singapore, heretofore attacked only by B-29s.

Today's Superfort raid by 50 to 100 B-29s pounded six airdromes on Yyushu Island from which the Japanese have been sending suicide planes against American forces at Okinawa. Simultaneously Tokyo reported suicide submarines had gone into action in the area, sinking three U. S. ships.

Two battle-weary and depleted American divisions were relieved on the Okinawa front while the 7th, burning and crunching its way ahead with flame throwers and tanks, cut a mile-deep hole in the enemy's east coast defenses.

Unit Changes

On the west coast the First Marine Division replaced the 27th which Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar said had "suffered considerable casualties." The army's 77th replaced the "physically exhausted" 96th in the center.

The 41st, which wears more decorations and has been in more campaigns than any other U. S. Division in the Pacific, advanced six miles on Mindanao Island to the edge of Davao, major port of the Southern Philippines. There was no sign of 40,000 Japanese reportedly quartered there.

American bombers wrecked 39 ovean-going vessels, insluding four bombed off the coast of Honshu, Japan's main island. U. S. submarines, which have sunk about half of Japan's merchant marine, accouted for 21 more runners their wartime total to 1,119.

laneous.

It said that in August, 1944, French resistance troops captured a German garrison near Pleubian, Brittany, and other Germans brought up mortars and artillery and forced the French to retreat. Twenty-one French surrendered. Ten days later their bodies were found in a trench.

"The state of these bodies proved without a shadow of a doubt that the men had been tortured and beaten with inhuman ferocity before being killed," the study said. "No international law can justify such brutality and sadism."

Punish Innocent.

The report said that the German method of dealing with the organized French Maquis "was to punish the innocent."

"Men and women arrested on suspicion were beaten and tortured in public after mass executions," the study said. "They would burn farms and whole villages over wide areas, sometimes shooting the inhabitants on sight."

An example of the nazi torture method was cited in the case of 17 French resistance members taken from a prison at St. Brieuc last August, whose bodies were later found in a wood:

"Many had their eyes torn out, their tongues cut out, their fingernails missing, welts and bruises all over their bodies and their skulls broken, etc. At least one man was found to have some dirt in his lungs—a sign he had been buried while still alive."

EUROPEAN WAR

Nazi's account Hitler, Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels and Chief of Staff Gen. Hans Krebs committed suicide.

Denmark and Norway were isolated by the British-Russian junction near Wismar, 29 miles southwest of captured Rostock. The Germans in the north were surrendering in wholesale lots. The Luxembourg radio, which sometimes speaks with authority, said German rule in Denmark seemed to be nearing its end.

Three Armies Drive Ahead.

Despite the surrender in Northern Italy and Western Austria, Gen. Eisenhower kept the American Third and Seventh Armies and the French First Army driving into the enemy's southern pocket.

Dominating the Inn river on a 66-mile front, Gen. Patton's Third Army had crossed that wide tributary of the Danube at half a dozen places and had completely occupied Braunanu, the birthplace of Hitler. The Third Army's 90th Division crossed into Czechoslovakia near Stary Pastrekov and advanced to within 29 miles of Pilsen and its Skoda munitions works, the only large armament center left to the Germans.

The people of Braunau, an Austrian village of 5,000, showered flowers on the Americans and exhibited little sorrow over the fate of Hitler. They seemed relived that the war was over for them.

A Seventh Army column had speared to within 17 miles of the Italian border. Americans were eight miles west of Innsbruck.

At the upper end of the Adriatic New Zealand troops occupied the Italian city of Trieste.

More Prisoners Liberated.

LONDON, May 3.—(AP)—The British war office announced today a reliable report had been received that prisoners of war in Stalag 11A at Algengrabow, 12 miles east of Magdeburg, were being evacuated by road to American lines. The camp is believed to contain 20,000 prisoners including 1 300 Americans.

De Valera's Condolences

DUBLIN, Eire, May 3.—(AP)—Premier Eamon De Valera called on German Minister Hempel last evening to express condolences on the death of Hitler. The flag at the German legation flew at half staff.

Churchill Absent

LONDON, May 3.—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill failed to appear in the House of Commons today, and this led to speculation as to his whereabouts.

Stimson Believes Hitler Dead.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson subscribed today to President Truman's belief that Adolf Hitler is dead.

Said Stimson:

"It is apparent that the war against Germany has not long to run."

He told a news conference he had "no more evidence than has been given in general sources, mostly in the press, but that (belief that Hitler is dead) is my conclusion."

Amazing Pep For Men 40, 60 or More

Receives Surrender.

ROME, May 3.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Charles S. Bolte, of Richmond, Va., commander of the 34th infantry division, received the surrender of the 75th German army corps of the Ligurian army in Northwestern Italy at 7:15 p. m., allied headquarters announced tonight.

The corps commander, Gen. The corps commandre, Gen. Schlemmer, had refused the orders of Gen. Heinrich Von Vietting-hoff-Schel two days ago to yield to the allies because he said he had given a personal oath to Adolf Hitler never to give in.

"Upon Hitler's death he felt he no longer was under such obligation," said the official report to allied headquarters.

The surrender conferences were finished at 3 p. m. yesterday.

CONFERENCE

cept the principle of international military bases but would never surrender any territory.

5. Leaders of several middle and small power delegations said they would be unwilling to turn over complete control of their military forces to a security council in which they had no voice.

6. The British completed a plan for international trusteeships over ex-enemy territories which opposes the United States plan for strategic trusteeships to cover military bases. The American proposal would let this country keep exclusive control over key islands captured from Japan.

Conference routine today was limited to organization meetings of commissions and committees.

But behind the scenes, the real issues that will have to be settled here were beginning to take definite shape. Among these the question of the powers of the security council seemed certain to become the most hotly debated.

Dumbarton Oaks Plan

Under the Dumbarton Oaks plan the council of five permanent powers— the United States, Russia, France, China and Britain—would have the right to call out security forces any time efforts to prevent a breach of the peace failed. A negative vote of one of the powers could block action.

This plan was necessary based on the theories (1) that the Nations which had the armies should have most of the authority in deciding how to use them and (2) that the big powers must concur on all important actions if they are to avoid trouble among themselves.

One change in this system is formally proposed by Belgium. Under the Belgian plan, a big power could veto the use of force only when that force was to be employed in its own region.

Brazil, on the other hand, proposed to make regional arrangements, such as the Pan-American system, independent of the security council except when an aggression threatened the peace of the world, rather than of a single region.

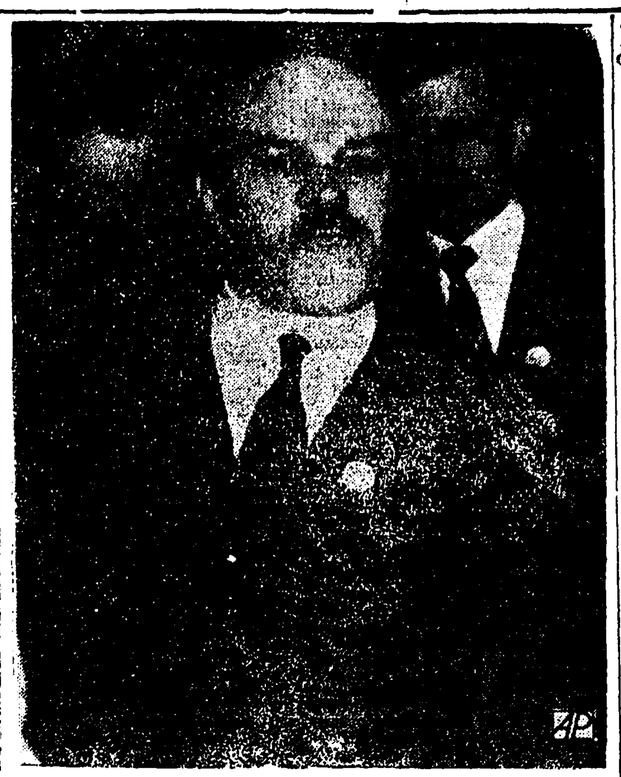

France proposed that regional pacts, such as her treaty of alliance with Russia, be allowed to function independently of the security council, though officially registered with it.

Russia Has Agreed.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—(AP)—Russia is reported here to have agreed in principle to joint Big-Three occupation and supervision of Austria until that country is ready for its promised freedom and independence.

Details of occupation zones have been worked out through the European advisory commission at London, say ranking allied officials here for the United Nations conference. Formal agreement is slated as soon as a few technicalities have been cleared away.

tons of bombs rained on it in 301 American and British air assaults.

Few Details Announced

The Russians announced only few details of yesterday's collapse.

Other Soviet armies to the south were swinging westward through Czechoslovakia in a drive to shred another developing pocket of Nazi resistance.

The Second White Russian push along the Baltic coast placed Soviet forces but 29 miles from the British.

North of Berlin, only a twisting, virtually indefensible strip on the Mecklenburg plain remained to the Germans.

A wide and solid linkup of the Eastern and Western Allies all the way north to the Baltic sea appeared imminent.

Stalin's order announcing the fall of Berlin said the commander of the city was an artillery general named Webling, who was captured along with Dr. Hans Fritsche, Goebbels' chief deputy, who told the Russians Hitler and Goebbels had committed suicide.

Tin Cans Needed To Prosecute War; Collections Sunday

Although the Japs are being defeated on every battle front, they continue to control most of the tin mines of the world and tin is a vitally needed war material. Therefore save and contribute all your tin cans to the big tin can drive which will be conducted here Sunday, Fred Prince, chairman of the county war salvage committee, again urged Tuesday.

Tin is needed for plating medical instruments used in all the American hospitals throughout the world. The tin cans you contribute to the drive Sunday may be the means of saving the lives of some of our boys on the fighting fronts, Prince explained.

The chairman for the drive suggested that the cans be prepared and placed on the sidewalks as early as Saturday for the city trucks which will begin calling for the cans in the residential districts by 8 a. m. Sunday morning. A total of 30,000 pounds of the cans are needed to make a carload shipment. If all will co-operate in the drive that goal will be achieved, Prince said.

He again reminded that the cans must be properly prepared if they are to be of any use for tin reclaiming purposes. This means the cans must be washed, the labels removed the ends cut out and tucked in and the cans flattened. Only cans that have contained food are wanted.

Adair, also a negro, Bivins said.

ENEMY BRUTALITY

History will record Hitler's rule as the most cruel and ruthless the world has known. Deliberately he set about to destroy truth, justice and freedom. To tell the truth, mete out justice or raise the voice for freedom he punished with imprisonment or death. His "master plan" was to make the German race the ruler of all other races—all other peoples the servants and slaves of the Nazi masters.

To accomplish his ends Hitler gathered to his standard the cruelest and most sadistic men in Germany. Never has bestiality been in greater demand or at such a premium as under the rule of this Austrian ex-corporal.

The foregoing statements are not speculation but facts abundantly verified by American, British and Russian armies now in Germany. Stories and pictures recently sent out of Germany by Associated Press writers and photographers and men of other news services prove that the Nazis murdered and starved to death people by the millions. A systematic effort was made to exterminate the Jewish race. Slave laborers from Russia, Poland and other countries were treated with inconceivable cruelty and worked to death while slowly starved and inadequately clothed and sheltered.

Realizing that Americans are propaganda sensitive. Gen. Eisenhower invited members of Congress and other leaders to come to Germany and visit various prison camps to witness for themselves the cruelties that the Nazis perpetrated. The Army Signal Corps filmed pictures of the death and misery that the German sadists visited upon the poor unfortunates who came under their control.

Yet there are civilians who persist in saying that all this is propoganda to make us hate Germany and to condition us for insisting on a hard peace against Germany. Of course, that is exactly what the Nazis would like to have us believe. But all that the news services, the news picture services and the government is interested in is having the public know what actually happened in Germany. The idea is that if we know what happened under such a system there, we ourselves will not be apt to fall victims to such a form of government.

AFRAID OF KINDNESS

A story almost as terrible as those of the German prison camps, where allied soldiers were starved and mistreated, has come from men of the U. S. Ninetieth Division pushing their way into Czechoslovakia. They found a brave and gallant people so broken by six years of oppression that, as one soldier said, "It's a terrible thing to see how these Czechs are afraid to be seen talking to us in front of Kraut prisoners."

It was all the more saddening to the Americans because they had crossed the border gleefully, their jackets laden with candy and cigarets, happy to be in "fraternizing country" once more. They all felt, as a Brooklyn rifleman expressed it, that "It'll be good to be nice again." And then they couldn't be. They couldn't even get rid of the candy unless they left it before closed doors.

They understood what the trouble was, that the Czechs were apparently afraid of German or Sudeten reprisals, but it grieved them. And it made them more enraged than ever at the Nazis, whose "cultur" could so destroy the spirit of a country so peace-loving, yet so sturdy and independent as that of the Czechs.

Truly there can be no real peace on earth until the Nazis are gone.

FRIENDS IN ARMS

Winston Churchill, the British prime minister, delivering a farewell eulogy of Franklin D. Roosevelt in the House of Commons, called him the greatest American friend that the British people had ever known. And probably that was true. In these last few years our nation, under Roosevelt's leadership, has been associated more closely and helpfully with Britain than at any other time we can remember in our long history. It is probably true that if it had not been for our wholehearted support given to Britain in the form of men, money and cheer, during her terrible ordeal, she might have gone down to destruction.

But let it also be remembered that this is not the whole story. Let us balance the account. It might well be said, in response to the British compliment, that in this same crisis Britain proved herself an invaluable friend. For Britain, weak as she was at the start of the war, kept the Hun at bay with the little help we could offer, until our strength had risen and we could meet the enemy on equal terms. In that supreme crisis, whose peril most of us failed to recognize at the time, there was glory enough for both nations.

THE BIGGEST JOB

The presidency grows too big and too hard for any man. Not only in war time but in peace time it tends to wear out every chief executive, and also many of the minor executives. More and more federal employees are drawn into the vast system of political control at Washington, and what was once a small capital becomes a large city, devoted almost entirely to federal administration. Government itself is now an industry, steadily growing in complexity.

It makes a thoughtful student of history think of ancient Rome, and how that system of life and government spread until it became too large and loose for effective control, and it slowly went to pieces.

Our country, however, has great advantages over any of the old systems of government. Modern mechanical inventionss give any executive enormously better facilities for his job. Our President can communicate almost instantly with any part of the country, for information or execution of orders.

But even so, the weight of responsibility is too great for one man. Ancient Rome divided the job between two men, alternating in six-months periods. Shall we have to do something like that? Or can we get along by stripping the presidency of many small responsibilities now cumbering it?

There is one day which some people will celebrate even more fervently than V-E day. That is Gasoline Day, when everybody can fill her up.

Who-ever would have expected to see the war news driven off the first page, as it was lately?

Edgar A. Guest

BIRDS OF A FEATHER

TEXAS HOUSE WOULD MAKE GERMANY AND JAPAN PAY BILLS

AUSTIN, Tex., May 3—(AP)—Adopted in the House today by a vote of 85 to 7, after sometimes heated debate, was a concurrent resolution petitioning the President and Congress to seek full payment of Allied war debts by Germany and Japan.

The resolution, by Rep. E. F. Harrell of Paris, touched off the biterest debate of the general session.

Some members objected to the language in which it was couched declaring it was not in keeping with the dignity of the House.

The document referred to the enemy nations as 'unspeakable vultures, internatnonal thugs and barbarians."

Dceated was an attempt by Rep. Cecil Barnes of San Angelo to recommit the resolution to committee for rewriting. Barnes and other opponents of immediate floor consideration emphasized they did not oppose condemnation of Germany and Japan or harsh terms of peace. Their principal objection, they reiterated, was to its phraseology.

Smacked of Mob Action

After its reading Rep. F. G. Swanson of Tyler asserted the resolution smacked of 'mob action and mass hysteria without reason or common sense."

'This legislature has indulged too many examples of emotional discusion of matters beyond its jurisdiction and not within its power, and in other instances neglected its mandatory constitutional duties," he said.

'I have no objection to any kind of expression or condemnation of the conduct of those in control of Germany, Italy or Japan in bringing about or conducting World War II.

"But world peace and cooperative unity between nations will be achieved only when individuals and nations can and do control their emotions to the extent they can arrange a world organization to be governed by law."

Swanson asserted war itself is beyond reason and it can't be coped with by requiring unborn generations of persons responsible for it to pay the bill.

The reason the world has not made much progress toward peace he continued, is because it has not been harassed emotionally.

Rep. W. R. Cousins Jr., of Beaumont, recently discharged veteran, recalled "the old saying that young men fight the wars and old men make the peace."

'Already the men at San Francisco have started political bickering," he said.

Atrocity Pictures

He asserted that German atrocity pictures should be at every breakfast table in the nation daily as a reminder of German character.

"The Germans have been bred to the state of perfected barbarism," he added, exhibiting magazine pictures of atrocities.

"I wish to God we could do to Germany and Japan what the Romans did to Carthage."

Rep. Grady Moore of Clarksville entered the debate to declare:

"I hesitate to be too positive about what we should do about the peace. I am reminded of a scripture passage which says 'vengeance is mine, sayeth the Lord, I shall repay.'

"When I saw the photographs of the dead Mussolini and his Mistress the truth of the scripture became apparent."

Moore has three sons in the armed forces.

Honor Memory of Martin.

AUSTIN, May 3.—(AP)—The house today unanimously adopted a resolution honoring the memory of the late C. A. Martin of Paris, former member of the house. The resolution was introduced by Rep. E. F. Harrell of Paris.

The last meeting of the Better Gardens Club for the year will be held at the home of Mrs. R. L. Hamilton on Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Election of officers and a social hour will highlight the afternoon.

TP&L EMPLOYES ARE BUYING BONDS SEVENTH WAR LOAN

Ninety-six per cent of the Texas Power and Light Company employees in the Corsicana district have subscribed to the payroll deduction plan for the Seventh War Loan period and all TPL employees who can be spared have been directed to spend two hours of company time each Monday in selling war bonds during the drive, Fred H. Harvey, Jr., local TPL manager, stated Wednesday.

The local TPL office is an issuing agency for war bonds and more than $60,000 worth of war bonds have been sold by the Corsicana office, Harvey said. He stated that TPL employees have been selling war bonds since Pearl Harbor on company time at the direction of John W. Carpenter, company president and have sold in excess of $3,000,000 worth.

In a letter to Harvey, Carpenter wrote: "The Seventh War Loan drive is of tremendous importance, and it is my hope that the TPL organization will give its fullest co-operation to those in charge of the drive. I have personally pledged the co-operation of the entire TPL organization to the end that the coming campaign may be a complete success. We owe our men in the armed forces wherever they may be this help and support. All that we may do in this connection is small when compared to what they are doing."

Evelyn Bryant and G. P. Robertson Wed On Saturday

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Bryant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bryant, to Flight Officer Gordon P. Robertson, son of Mrs. T. C. Robertson of Birmingham, Ala., was solemnized on Saturday evening at 9 o'clock at the Missionary Baptist church. The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. A. L. Meador before an altar adorned with a profusion of white gladioli and gleaming white tapers in floor candelabra.

Miss Louise Johnson, pianist, played the traditional wedding marches as processional and recessioaal.

The bride was attired in navy blue crepe with white accessories and her corsage was fashioned of white carnations and gardenias.

The bride's only attendant, Mrs. Marie Standard, who served as matron of honor, wore rose crepe with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Earl Bryant, U. S. Marine, was best man.

Miss Patty Ford entertained with an informal reception at her home immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with white roses, and held the two-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and bridegroom and the crystal punch service, presided over by Misses Jeanette Smith and Patty Ford, respectively.

The bride, a graduate of Corsicana High school, will continue her duties at the State National Bank until June 1, at which time she will join her husband at Aloe Field, Victoria, Texas, where he has just completed transition in P-40s.

Information From Navarro County Rationing Board

Retailers, wholesalers and others may not legally sell clothes pins imported from Mexico until they have first made application to the OPA in Washington, D. C., and obtained a legal price at which to sell them, W. A. Wright, chairman of the Navarro County Rationing Board, warned Tuesday.

Every seller will be held liable for vioation of OPA regulations unless he first obtains the legal selling price from Washington, Wright stated.

The local OPA office is mailing out government established retail ceiling prices on electric irons and a bulletin giving the wholesale and retail prices on tire reliners, patches and boots made from scrap. Any who do not receive these price lists should apply for copies at the local rationing board.

OPA Slaughter Control Order No. 1 requires all farm slaughterers to register with the local board by July 1, 1945. However, any who sell or transfer meat on or after May 14 must register with the local board and get a permit to operate before the May 14 deadline, Wright said. Class 2 slaughterers are required to register with the local board by July 1, 1945. However ,any who sell or transfer meat on or after May 14 must register with thet local board and get a permit to operate berore the May 14 deadline, Wright said. Class 2 slaughterers are required to register with the Dallas district office and obtain a license to operate before the May 14 deadline.

Numerous questions are being asked daily at the local rationing board about the new OPA regulations affecting farm slaughterers, W. A. Wright, chairman of the Navarro County Rationing Board stated Wednesday.

Following are some of the questions asked, with Wright's answers:

How can a farmer slaughter under the new regulations?

He can slaughter for sale no more dressed meat in any quarter of this year than in the corresponding quarter of 1944.

What must the farmer do if he is to sell the slaughtered meat?

He must register for the sale of dressed meats and fill out a simple form at the local OPA ooffice. He will have to report his sales and account for red ration points.

If a farmer killed no meat for sale in 1944, can he do it this year?

Yes, by registering with the local board. But he cannot market more than 400 pounds.

If he kills cattle and hogs for his own consumption, must he register?

No.

What is the definition of a farm slaughterer?

A resident operator of a farm who in 1944, sold no more than 6,000 pounds of meat produced from slaughter of his own livestock.

If, because of misunderstanding or lack of knowledge by the farmer, he did not turn in any ration points for meat sold in 1944, will he still be allowed to slaughter for sale in 1945?

Yes, under a special condition. But the farmer will have to agree in writing to comply in the future with requirements.

Why should the farmer comply with the new regulations?

Because there is a nationwide meat distribution problem. Too much meat is being slaughtered on farms and in non-Federally inspected plants, and not enough in Federally inspected plants. By limiting the amount of meat slaughtered on farms to the same amount slaughtered in 1944, any extra will go to the places where it's needed most. Some of the meat slaughtered on the farms is going into the black markets where higher than ceiling prices are charged, thus causing further danger of inflation. If the farmer collects ration points for the meat he slaughters, the retailer, too, will have to collect ration points. If a farmer sells only at ceiling price, the retailer, too, can sell at ceiling price.

Unusual Experience For Corsicana Man

How a Corsicana soldier found himself with the Rhine River on one side, ten Germans in a machine-gun nest on the other, and a jammed gun, came through with the capture of the ten Krauts through a brave maneuver with a grenade is related in the following account appearing in a recent issue of the publication of the Fifth Infantry Division:

"Rifleman Paul Conn, Jr., Corsicana, Texas, remained behind to hold down an enemy machine gun nest that was by-passed. It was an all night affair for Conn who was forced to dig-in with his bare hands. Less than 30 yards away the enemy intermittently opened fire at anything that moved. 'I was tempted to swim back across the Rhine', said Conn. Cramped in this position, Conn was thankful for daybreak, for with it he sized up the situation and saw what he was up against—10 Germans. Conn's heart sank when he tried to work his M-1, only to find it had jammed. Finally in desperation Conn flung all caution to the wind, pulled the pin in a grenade and rose before the enemy. Terror-stricken at the sight of a lone American coming toward them, 10 Krauts threw up their arms and surrendered. Thus ended the last resistance at the river's edge."

Conn is in the famous Third Army. He entered the armed forces July 25 1942, in the quartermaster's department, and was transferred to the infantry, December, 1944, going overseas February 1, 1945. He was employed at the Dr. Pepper plant prior to entering the armed forces. His wife, Mrs. Martha Conn, employee of the First National Bank, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Conn, Sr., reside in Corsicana.

Lieut. Seale Attends Luncheon in England

Lieut. Maxie B. Seale, holder of the DFC and Air Medal decorations, recently attended a luncheon somewhere in England where high officials saw the motion picture show, "Winged Victory," according to clippings received by the officer's parents, County Commissioner and Mrs. L. M. Seale of Kerens. The clipping revealed the show is based on a Liberator pilot's exploits and is "symbolic of the USAAF." The luncheon was arranged by the Gaumont-British Picture Corporation, and in addition to Lieut. Seale, the mayor and mayoress, Councelor and his wife, Mrs. Broughton, director of the American Red Cross, and others attended the occasion. The town where the show and luncheon was held was deleted from the clipping sent to Commissioner and Mrs. Seale.

PLANS OUTLINED FOR SOUTHWESTERN DEVELOPMENT BODY

WASHINGTON, May 3—(AP)—Plans for a Southwestern States development organization to exploit resources of that section have been outlined to Texas members of Congress.

Fred Florence, president of the Republic National Bank of Dallas, said the membership in the organization, officially known as the Gulf-Southwest Industrial and Agricultural Conference, will be recruited from civic and business enterprises in Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

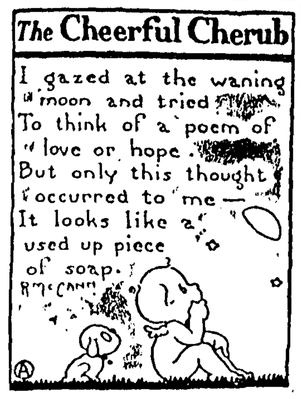

The Governors and all members of Congress from these states are advisory officials of the conference said Florence, adding that unanimous cooperation of all is expected because the aims of the organization are non-political and intended only to increase the industrial and agricultural economy of their section.

John W. Carpenter of Dallas, president of the Texas Power and Light Co., is president of the organization Florence is secretary-treasurer and James Blundell of Dallas, executive director.

Florence told the Congressmen a number of banks and industrial establishments already have agreed to contribute financially to the maintenance of an administrative force.

Part of the work of the conference would be informing Eastern manufacturers of the advantage to be found in the Southwest for establishing new plants, or converting war-born facilities into producers of civilian goods.

The chief gave a detailed off-the-record account of how he handles juvenile delinquency cases and related examples of how juveniles are handled for minor infractions of the law, such as theft of articles from stores, pulling of flowers from neighbors' yards, etc. However, he emphasized that all he had to say he would tell to the grand jury at 10 a. m. today.

were given out. It does little good Climer said, to explain that the names are kept in strict confidence and known only to the investigator.

Now Law.

"There is now a law requiring the physicians to furnish the names, but many physicians will not even report how many venereal disease cases they treat without furnishing names," he said. Climer believes many of the cases treated by the private physicians are juveniles and probably high school students.

He stated that there has been no sharp increase recently in venereal cases, but he has noticed an increase in the percentage of white patients, particularly young girl patients.

Rapid Treatment.

Four patients with venereal disease were sent to the rapid treatment center in Waco during April for treatment, he said.

The clinic secured 183 blood tests in April and 40 of these were positive. Twelve were not returned and 131 were negative. While expectant mothers and any who believe they have had a chance to contract venereal disease are urged to take the blood tests. Most of the tests are secured from those who work in restaurants and other food handlers compelled to secure health certificates.

The following report on the activities of the Corsicana-Navarro Health Department for April was submitted by Dr. Will Miller, acting director:

The health department serves a population of 53,000.

One field visit to a diphtheria patient was made.

In venereal disease control work one patient was admitted to medical service. There were 467 clinic visits, 40 field visits and two delinquents. Two public lectures with motion pictures were given with an attendance of 665.

Examinations.

Nine X-ray examinations were made in tuberculosis control work, two were admitted to sanatoria and individuals were tuberculin tested.

In school health service work, one school was inspected by a physician and nurse.

One water supply out of town was chlorinated, 19 samples of water were collected for laboratory analysis, nine private premises were inspected for general sanitation, one tourist court camp site was inspected, one rural school was inspected for sanitation, two public water supply field visits were made by the sanitary inspector and two private visits. The sanitarian also made three field visits to inspect public sewerage systems. Two mosquito breeding places were eliminated. The sanitarian made two public lectures with motion pictures with an attendance of 925 at both meetings. A total of 203 rat control visits were made and one new program of sanitation was started.

More Complaints.

Twenty-six nuisance complaints were investigated and nine corrections were made. Three promotional sanitation visits were made and two consultant visits.

In the protection of food and milk the following food establishments registered for supervision: Four eating and drinking establishments (3 restaurants and 1 tavern), 25 grocery stores, two bakery shops and one candy store. One other also registered.

Food establishments inspected included 18 restaurants, five lunch counters, one school cafeteria, two taverns, 76 grocery stores, with five corrections, two bakery shops with one correction, one candy store and one not classified.

One dairy farm registered for supervision, 49 were inspected and 11 corrections made. Four pasteurizing plants were inspected and two corrections made. One public lecture was made with 30 in attendance. One slaughter house registered for supervision and four slaughter houses were inspected with three corrections made.

One meat investigation visit was made and one promotional visit.

Water Samples.

Eleven water samples were examined in the laboratory for bacteriological content and 39 samples for chemical content. A total of 163 tests were made for syphillis and three for gonorrhea.

Food Condemned.

A total of 5,184 pounds of food were condemned.

The department made 13 unsuccessful visits. Twenty-five conferences were held with private physicians and one other conference.

The reportable diseases included 15 cases of chickenpox, one case of diphtheria, 10 gonorrhea, 82 influenza, two meningococcus meningitis, one pneumonia, three streptococcic sore throat, 298 measles and 23 cases of mumps.

Solomon Started Well and Ended Badly—His Destruction of Hebrew Democracy—Modern Ruins on the Borders of His Kingdom—New Canal to Use His Red Sea Port

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGASS

In the Near East there is still magic in the name of Solomon. Spells and conjurations are uttered in his name. Soothsayers invoke his wisdom. There is talk of "The Lost Books of Solomon." The little birds, called "lost souls", that ceaselessly dart to and fro along the Bosphorus, are supposed to be seeking the sword of Solomon. Ethiopia invokes him as a great ancestor. Natives explain ruins as the work of Solomon. The glamor of the great king has survived the centuries.

Indeed, the extent of Solomon's sway is astonishing. I have visited the head of the Gulf of Akaba (where Great Britain's projected new Suez Canal is to enter the Red Sea) and have seen the recently identified sites of Elath and Ezion Gebir, where Solomon smelted copper and whence his ships sailed to Africa. Far to the North, in the desert, I have visited the magnificient ruins of Tadmor-In-The-Wilderness, which he ruled. I have seen his stables at Megiddo and his baths at Hamma, east of the Jordan. Repeatedly, I have gone through the immense quarries under the City of Jerusalem, where he dug the stones for the building of the temple.

At the Brilliant Peak

Because Solomon represented the apex of the power and glory of the Hebrew nation, his life has been appointed for study by the Lesson Committee, in the hope that students will look backward also to the reigns of his father, David, and Saul, Israel's first king.

It is to be borne in mind, that God did not want Israel to have a king, for that role belonged to Himself, but he yielded to the importunity of the people, who wanted to follow the fashions of the neighboring nations. God lets us have our way, even when it is bad; but the price must always be paid. God ever helps us to make the most of our second-best choices, as He did with Israel's kings.

After David the sometimes sinning but always God-seeking shepherd king, the great warrior-statesman unified and stabilized the nation—better remembered for the Psalms that he wrote than for his soldierly adventures and for his royal reign—came his son, Solomon, whose mother was Bathsheba, with whom David had so grievously sinned. David left a great kingdom, with its crowning achievement, the building of the temple in Jerusalem, to be accomplished by his son.

It was ordained that the temple be built by a man of peace, and such this son of David proved himself to be through a long reign.

Solomon inherited his father's religious nature. The beginning of his reign was sublime. His prayer for wisdom and his dedicatory prayer at the completion of the temple, are living documents today. No king ever had a fairer start.

A King's Ups and Downs

But the king-business is precarious. It is quite possible that, after the post-war settlement, there will be only one great king left on earth, whose chief function is to serve as a national symbol of unity.

In Solomon's day, kings were absolute monarchs. How the people fared depended upon the personality of the ruler. Solomon began well, and earned his title of the wisest man. The Book of Proverbs is a permanent testimonial to his deep human wisdom.

But it takes even greater wisdom than Solomon's to enable a man to survive the powers of dictatorship. His lust for glory led him into mad extravagances. He made the kingdom great, but at the sacrifice of the people. He impressed them into forced labor. Their democracy disappeared before the reckless egotism of the king. As his glory and riches became greater, the lot of the poor became worse. It was an altogether Solomon-centered kingdom that he built up.

Too Many Wives

"Are we old fellows less religious than we used to be?" an old friend once asked me. The question was more searching than it seemed. For there is abundant evidence that many elderly men have grown indifferent to the Christian concerns that dominated their youth and middle age. This is the gravest peril that advancing years bring. Too many of us, like Solomon, find our faith dimmed as we draw near the end of life.

A first contributing cause in Solomon's case was the many wives he married, mostly from political considerations. There were seven hundred wives and three hundred concubines. Their influence upon him was immeasurable.

Most of these wives were heathen. They gradually sapped his loyalty to Jehovah. Few men rise above the spiritual level of their wives. So before he died, the great and wise king, who had begun his reign so auspiciously, had slumped to the level of the pagans about him, thus insuring a heritage of disaster for his sons and for Israel.

Regarded as the wisest of Israel's kings, Solomon proved, before his reign ended, to be in many ways the most unwise ruler in his nation's long history.

JUVENILE PROBE

proximately 30 witnesses in the juvenile matter.

Following is Roe's statement:

"The juvenile delinquency question as handled through my office has not been any more aggravated than it was at former times when I was an assistant in this office—in 1935, 1936 and 1938.

Blame War

"But greater emphasis the last few years has been placed on juvenile delinquency and due to war conditions and both parents, in many instances, engaged in war work, has caused a gross neglect of their parental duties, and there is existant now a greater parental delinquency than there is juvenile delinquency.

Blame Parents

"That in most juvenile matters investigated, the source of most of children's trouble was traced to inadequate exercise of parental authority, guidance and supervision.

"Due to the recent statements and comments concerning juvenile delinquency in this county, and after conferences with various public officials, law enforcement officers, parents and school authorities, it was thought best to have a thorough investigation made into the juvenile question—made for the purpose of definitely finding its causes and endeavoring to reach a proper solution to effectuate a remedy.

"After the completion of the present grand jury investigation, a report will in all probability be made which will consist of numerous recommendations to all public officials, parents, school authorities and the children, and proper legal action will be taken in an effort to correct juvenile delinquency now in existence and proper action will also be taken in furtherance of the recommendations of the grand jury as a preventative measure."

After quoting FBI records for 1944 when 1,400,000 major crimes were committed in America, with 17-year-olds leading all other age groups—an all-time high, Sheriff Curington said that existing conditions will be corrected in time.

"Parental guidance has much to do with juvenile conditions, and parents want their children to do right. It will take the co-operation of all to work out the proper solution", the sheriff added, and then voiced appreciation that the district judge had asked the people to come before the grand jury and express their feelings and secure their cooperation in the matter of juvenile delinquency.

U. S. DELEGATION IS SPONSORING CHANGES IN DUMBARTON OAKS

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3—(AP)—The American delegation announced today it is sponsoring amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks charter designed to open the way to peaceful revision of world agreements in the postwar era.

Comdr. Harold E. Stassen, acting as spokesman for the delegation to the United Nations conference, told reporters the group had agreed upon nine major objectives in changes now being considered by the Big Four Foreign Ministers.

As Stassen outlined them:

1. Provision for functioning of the entire international organization " keeping with the principles of justice."

2. Clarification of Dumbarton Oaks language to provide that the organization function within, and assist in developing, internatonal law.

Safeguarding Human Rights.

3. The development and safeguarding of human rights as a basic purpose of the new world organization.

4. Provision for "peaceful change of conditions in the world so that the world is not frozen."

5. Incorporated into the charter of a definite system of trusteeships.

6. Provision for future general review of the entire charter "in the light of experience and the developing world situation after the war is over."

7. Introduction of a modernized version of the world court as an integral part of the United Nations organization.

8. Incorporation in the charter of specific provisions of the Atlantic charter. These include the "four freedoms."

Cultural Objectives.

9. The outlining of cultural objectives discussed in the conversations with China at Dumbarton Oaks, but not included previously in the formula.

With Chairman Bloom (D-NY) of the house foreign affairs committee, nodding agreement, Stassen told a crowded news conference that the American proposals had been endorsed unanimously by this country's delegates.

He said they had been laid before the big four—Secretary of State Stettinius, Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov, British Foreign Minister Eden, and Chinese Foreign Minister Soong, along with changes suggested by others of the four sponsoring powers.

Stassen said the conference of the big four ministers on proposed amendments was being conducted "in a very good atmosphere."

WEST FRONT

produced up to 30,000 tons of oil a month.

One of the last remarks of the Hamburg radio was that Prague—capital of Czechoslovakia and now the largest city remaining in German hands—had been declared a "hospital city." The radio had proclaimed Hamburg an "open city" shortly before the British Second army of Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey entered. It was the first German city so designated.

Chaos Reigns in North

Chaos reigned in the north. British and attached American troops burst defense after defense and gathered tens of thousands of prisoners.

Hamburg fell with hardly a struggle. The surrender terms called for British occupation and control not only of the city itself but also of a ten mile arc surrounding it on the north side of the Elbe.

This placed the British within 37 miles of Kiel, the main German naval base, and 72 of Denmark. The commander of occupation troops placed the entire city under curfew and ordered all residents except utility plant workers confined to their homes after 1 p. m.

Traffic Ordered Stopped.

The British ordered all traffic in Hamburg stopped at noon. The commander told the populace by radio that the duration of the curfew would depend upon their behavior and declared that troops would intervene by force of arms in case of disobedience.

The American 18th Airborne Corps and the British Eighth Corps were mopping up pocketed Germans in the north as fast as they could move from one trap to another.

Contact was made with the Russians near Wismar and Grabow. The German 245th division, a training unit, surrendered en masse to the British Sixth Division at Wismar. Another whole division surrendered to the Americans near Tagenow. The American Ninth Army established three new links with the Russians at Abbendorf, a point seven miles southeast of Wittenberge and at Lutkenwisch.

Oldenburg, traffic hub of 33,000 and capital of the Duchy of that name, surrendered by telephone to the Canadian Second Division.

Capture Many Prisoners.

Without moving except to send patrols to contact the Russians, the Ninth Army captured 14,621 prisoners—all of them driven into American lines by the Russian advance.

The Third Army after capturing Passau and Hitler's birthplace of Braunau stabbed within 16 miles of Linz, third city of Austria. Moving along a 70 mile front, the Third Army crossed the Inn river at half a dozen places. The Thunderbodt (11th Armored) Division fought through melting snow toward a junction with the Russians west of Vienna but the Germans still were fighting in this area.

Hamburg, Europe's largest port and Germany's second city of 1,682,220 had been outflanked and besieged for several weeks. It was largely in ruins because bombers had made it a frequent target.

"Hamburg is an open city," the radio there—one of the last in German hands—proclaimed. "British occupation troops are now entering the city."

German Holdings Shrink.

The northern German holdings were split into several untenable pockets and the southern section was shrunk by the surrender in Italy of nearly 1,000,000 German combat and service troops. The Alpine "redoubt" was virtually wiped out under terms of the surrender. The Germans still held Bohemia and Moravia, eastern Austria and the mountainous region of northwest Yugoslavia.

Even this southern section was about to be split by a junction of Gen. Patton's Third army and the Russians around the Austrian city of Linz.

The British and Russians joined forces on the Baltic above captured Berlin and east of fallen Luebeck. It was more of a mopup than a campaign. What Germans remained were beaten; many had fled to the doubtful refuge of Denmark.

Only Four Cities Left.

With the loss of Berlin, Hamburg, Luebeck and Rostock, the only large German cities remaining under the Swastika were Breslau, Dresden, Chemnitz and Kiel. At Luebeck, the British were 38 miles from Kiel and 85 from the Danish frontier. Schwerin (45,000) Wismar and Wittenberge (Both 25,000) toppled in the north.

The Danubian fortress of Passau (25,000), guardian city to Linz, fell to Patton's troops in the south.

Under terms of the Italian surrender, the Austrian provinces if the Tyrol, Voralberg and Salzburg all were surrendered. Included in these regions were the cities of Innsbruck and Salzburg. The surrendered region stretches to within artillery range of Berchtesgaden.

The Blue Ridge (80th) division of the Third army pushed 25 miles south to the area of Holzfelder, 39 miles from Berchtesgaden and a mile from Austria.

German Crackup Accelerated.

The general German crackup was accelerated. Supreme headquarters listed the capture of Field Marshal Baron Moxmilian Freiherr Von Weichs, former German commander in the Balkans; Field Marshal Hugo Sperrle, who was commander of the German air force that directed the blitz on London; plus 18 generals. Some 93,000 Germans surrendered Monday.

The Germans in the north surrendered in wholesale lots.

In the south, the Third army dominated the Inn River on a 66-mile front and had crossed the wide tributary of the Danube at least half a dozen times. Braunau, birthplace of Hitler, was occupied completely. Patton's Texas and Oklahoma (90th) division crossed into Czechoslovakia near Stary Pastrekov and advanced six miles to within 29 of Pilsen and its Skoda munitions works.

Lack Allied Confirmation.

The Hamburg radio reports that the port had been entered and that it and Prague were open, or hospital, cities lacked confirmation at supreme headquarters, where communications often lagged behind the action.

Despite the surrender in Italy, Eisenhower kept his three-army offensive rolling in the south.

Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh army at last reports was eight miles from Innsbruck (61,000) capital of the Tyrol, and within sight of Imst, a major stronghold in the western end of what the Germans had called their national redoubt. Both the Seventh and the French First armies last were reported within 17 miles of the North Italian frontier.

Surrendering Germans.

Reports to supreme headquarters told of Germans surrendering by divisions in both the north and the south.

One of the largest potential death traps for the enemy was in Western Holland, where the German 25th army has opened a corridor for movement of food to the starving Dutch.

Gen. Henry Crerar's Canadian army moved into Oldenburg (33,000).

The British Sixth airborne division formed the latest junction with the Russians near Wismar, about midway between Luebeck (154,630) and Rostock (122,399.) Late yesterday, the Russians and American Ninth army's Rail Splitter (84th) division poined south of Wittenberge, forming another trap along the Elbe on its course above Dessau.

Long Linkup.

In effect, the Red armies and Gen. Eisenhower's forces were linked up all the way from the North German coast to a point somewhere between the Czechoslovak border and the Dresden region.

Some Germans in the north were attempting to get away by sea. British fighterbombers struck at the routed foe and destroyed more than 1,500 vehicles yesterday. Pilots reported small convoys forming off Luebeck. They scored several hits on a 1,000-ton troop ship. British bombers attacked Kiel in the night.

Field Marshal Montgomery's armies were taking prisoners at 2 miles alone were estimated to have taken 55,000 prisoners yesterday. The American 82nd airborne division, fighting alongside the British Second army, captured even more.

Many Allied Prisoners Freed.

Many allied prisoners of war and displaced persons were liberated. The British 11th armored division overran Offlag 10C, freeing more than 7,000 allied officer prisoners. By capturing Luebeck, this division snapped all land routes into Schleswig-Holstein and Denmark.

Enormous booty was seized.

Both the Seventh and Third armies were taking captives by the thousands.

French troops seized 2,000 prisoners and three generals at captured Bregenz and reached the Austrian town of Dornbirn (16,650), six miles to the south.

East of Munich, the Seventh army's 106th Cavalry group captured the 79th Hungarian infantry division intact, counting 8,800 prisoners. Around 85 German planes, including ten jets, and more than 137,000 gas and smoke shells were taken in nthe area.

Close On Innsbruck.

Shortly after noon, the Cactus (103rd) division of the Seventh army closed to within seven miles of Innsbruck. The terrain was more difficult than the Germans.

Seventh army columns which advanced along mountain roads ignored scores of enemy troops wandering about trying to give up.

The Rainbow (42nd) division alone took 50,000 captives yesterday in mopping up Munich. Many said they were celebrating the end of the war. Officers declared that Hitler's death released them from their oaths of allegiance to the fuehrer and they were no longer required to fight.

Infantry and tanks advanced beyond the major traffic center of Rosenheim (20,000) 42 miles northwest of Berchtesgaden.

The French below Lake Constance captured Unter Klein, 11 miles north of the frontier of Liechtenstein.

Texas Division Captures Generals

PARIS, May 3.—(AP)—The Texas (36th) Division of the Seventh Army has captured at least three field marshals and nine generals in the last two days.

Latest field marshals captured south of Munich were Hugn Sperle, who directed the air war against London as commander of the Luftwaffe, and Baron Maximillian von Weichs, former commander of Army Group F in the Balkans.

The former Texas National Guard outfit seized Field Marshal von Rundstedt, former commander in the west, the day before.

Veterans Bonus Drive Priced At $11,000,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP)—A veterans' bonus drive, with an estimated $11,000,000,000 price tag attached, is in full swing on Capitol Hill.

It got off to a flying start under the guidance of Representative Ranwin (D-Miss) chairman of the house veterans' committee and one of the framers of the G. I. Bill of Rights.

It calls for payment of $20 a week for a year to any member of the armed services who served 90 days or more since Sept. 16, 1940, and was not dishonorably discharged.

Rankin predicted the measure he introduced yesterday as an amendment to the G. I. Bill of Rights would win early and overwhelming approval.

On the basis of $1 040 each for the more than 10,000,000 men and women eligible, the total cost would be in the enighborhood of $11,000,000,000.

Blanding Sloan left by plane for his home in Los Angeles, Calif., on Wednesday afternoon after a visit with his mother, Mrs. A. C. Sloan, who has been a patient at the Corsicana Hospital and Clinic for the past several months.

DRAFT VETO

lation, launched a movement to override the President.

Before the house could vote on Flannagan's proposal, however, it had to dispose of a motion to send the bill back to the military committee, a motion that requires only a majority vote to carry. A two-thirds vote is necessary to override a veto.

Flannagan told the house, amid republican applause, that Mr. Truman "has been poorly advised on this matter."

Rep. Andresen (R-Minn.) declared "There will be a virtual famine in the United States soon unless we protect our farm workers."

Backers of the legislation won a preliminary test when they rejected, 155 to 113 on a standing vote, May's motion to send the measure back to committee. The Kentuckian demanded a record vote, however, and it was ordered immediately, with republicans voting almost solidly against recommital and enough democrats joining them to indicate the motion would be defeated.

"In time of war it is the paramount obligation of every citizen to serve his country to the best of his ability," the President said in a message to the house.

The President said he did not believe that congress really intended, in passing the Selective Service Act, that agricultural workers "should be given blanket deferment as a group."

He added he thought congress had not intended it to be the national policy that agricultural employment "was more essential than any other type of employment, including service in the armed forces of the United States in the protection of our country."

The vetoed measure would have revised the Tydings amendment to fix a procedure for deferment of agricultural and kindred occupations according to work actually performed.

Asserting that in his opinion, "no group should have any special privileges," the President declared:

"Enactment of such a law would not only be an injustice to the millions already inducted into our armed forces and those yet to be inducted. It would do violence to the basic principle embodied in Section 5 (E) (1) of the selective training and service act which prohibits deferment by occupation groups or groups of individuals, a principle which was incorporated into the present law because of the deferment scandals of the last war, particularly in shipyards.

"The resolution would also limit the authority now vested in the President by Section 5 (1) to make final determination of all questions of exemption or deferment under the act, and would deprive him of the right to determine the relative essentiality of the needs of agriculture and the armed forces."

Congressional Dissatisfaction.

The vetoed amendment grew out of congressional dissatisfaction with draft board administration of the Tydings act.

The Tydings act blueprinted procedure to be followed by local draft boards in considering cases of farm workers. It provided that a man should not be inducted if he was regularly engaged in an essential agricultural job, and a suitable replacement could not be found.

The amendment by Rep. Flannagan (D-Va.) went a step further by expressly ordering the deferment of such men without regard to the relative essentiality of farm workers or non-farm workers in any area.

It directed that they be deferred "without consideration of any other circumstance or condition whatsoever."

Miss Ruth Irline Duke of Dayton, Ohio, has arrived for a visit with Corsicana relatives.

DISTRICT JUDGE CHARGES JURY TO AIR SITUATION

THOROUGH INVESTIGATION INTO LOCAL CONDITIONS WILL BE MADE

Question of juvenile delinquency, if any, in Corsicana and Navarro county will be brought out in the open by a sweeping grand jury investigation.

This became apparent Wednesday morning when A. P. Mays, district judge, re-convened the April grand jury and charged them to go to the bottom of the question, take such action, if any, they see fit, and make such recommendations they desired in the matter. There has been considerable discussion and agitation in some quarters in recent weeks on the matter.

Thorough Probe.

David Ralston, assistant county attorney, said the probers would take up the juvenile question Thursday as J. C. Roe, county attorney, was busy with other matters Wednesday. Everyone with anything to say or reveal on the juvenile question is invited to appear before the quizzers, according to the following statement by C. C. Roberts, foreman:

ROBERTS' STATEMENT

"The Navarro County grand jury is investigating the juvenile situation in Navarro County. Any person who has any information concerning any alleged offense by a juvenile, any suggestions concerning the juvenile situation in this county, or any other pertinent information on this subject, is hereby invited to appear before the grand jury and give it the benefit of his suggestions.

"C. C. ROBERTS,
"Foreman of Grand Jury."

No Restrictions Made.

Judge Mays gave the investigators ample room, without restrictions, to probe into the actions of officers, and others, and appealed for co-operative efforts of the schools, children, churches and most important of all—the parents.

It is believed in many circles that this courageous action on the part of the judge of the Thirteenth judicial district court will solve the problem, if such one exists, bring into the open the true situation and correct evils, of they are found, regarding the youngsters.

Following is the charge as given the grand jurors by Judge Mays from the bench Wednesday morning:

Judge Mays' Charge.

"GENTLEMEN OF THE GRAND JURY:

"You have been called upon to reconvene because of a problem facing us, and which problem requires attention. I refer to the juvenile problem. If the problem is solved, it will be only by the cooperative efforts of all concerned, the children, the schools, the churches, the law enforcement officials and most important of all, the parents.

"I request that, as far as possible you get to the bottom of the problem, and to this end you have the power of our state behind you.

"When you have completed your investigation, you are of course authorized to take such action, if any, or make such recommendations, if any, as you, in your wisdom, believe proper. In your investigation, please bear these matters in mind:

"1. Has any official been negligent in the discharge of his duties in respect to the juvenile question? If so, how may such duties be more effectively discharged?

"2. Do you recommend the appointment of a truant or probation officer in this county?

"4. Do you recommend the passage of a curfew ordinance by the City of Corsicana? And you are of course at liberty to make any recommendation in regard to the problem you see fit."

GOVERNOR VETOED BILL PERMITTING HIRING OF CLERKS

AUSTIN, May 3.—(AP)—Governor Coke Stevenson today vetoed as unconstitutional a bill permitting tahe county judges of counties within certain population brackets, and within certain assessed valuation limits, to employ clerks and stenographers.

As written, the bill would have applied only to Waller, Camp and Collingsworth counties.

"It is my opinion that this bill (SB 193) falls within the category of those usually referred to as bracket bills which have repeatedly been held by the courts to be violative of constitutional provisions." the veto message said.

The only other bill vetoed at this session (HB 167) fell within the same category, the governor said.

Stevenson signed a bill (SB 148) increasing membership in the textbook advisory commission from five to nine, and another (HB 718) fixing the term of office of school trustees of independent school districts heretofore created by special acts of the legislature, having boards of seven members and included in the boundaries of cities having a population of 220,000 as shown in the last federal census.

Half-Billion Dollar Airport Construction Bills Before Senate

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(AP)—A half-billion dollar federal aid airport construction bill came up today before a short-handed senate obviously absorbed in the prospect of imminent German collapse.

Not only was victory news distracting the senators from a measure that ordinarily would hold their complete atention, but a dozen members were away on official business.

Under the pending measure the government would spend $100,000,000 a year for each of five postwar years to construct 3,000 new airports and improve 1,600 of the existing 3,000 airfields. The federal funds would have to be matched by an equal amount of state and local money. This would make the actual program total $1,000,000,000.

Mrs. A. A. Allison has been ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward M. Polk, Jr., for the past several days, but is reported to be progressing satisfactorily.

NINE-MEMBER TEXAS ELECTIVE SUPREME COURT AMENDMENT

AUSTIN, Tex., May 3—(AP)—Submissio . of a constitutnonal amendment prov'ding for an elective nine-member Supreme Court was assured by legislation action today.

Both the House and Senate adopted a free conference committee report adjusting differences between House and Senate versions of the resolution (SJR 8) calling for submission of the proposed amendment to the electorate on Aug. 25 1945.

The House vote was 124 to 1, and the Senate vote was 21 to 4.

The present Supreme Court is made up of three elected members and six members of an appointive commission on appeals. While the court thus in effect is a nine-member body, under the present constitutional provision, only three (those elected) have a vote.

The House meanwhile began consideration of another must piece of legislation—the general departmental appropriations bill. The House bill calls for appropriations of $30,622,936 for the next biennium beginning Aug. 31, for departmental functions. The Senate bill calls for appropriation of $26,534,092.

Current Appropriations

Currently appropriated for state departments—including the original amount voted by the 48th legislature and salary increases voted on an emergency basis by the present session—is $23,488,122.

Advocates of old age assistance legislation and those backing a proposal to freeze highway gasoline tax funds tangled in a floor battle over priority of the two proposed constitutional amendments in the Senate.

When the Senate adjourned yesterday until today, it was in the midst of debate over the highway tax fund freeze measure, but proponents of early pasage of old age assistance amendments in a surprise move, succeeded in gaining the floor.

Senate In Deadlock

Sen. Allan Shivers of Port Arthur, sponsor of the highway tax proposal immediately tossed the Senate into an hour and a half deadlock in an effort to regain the floor.

The Senate refused to concur in House amendments to a bill by Sen. Jesse Martin of Fort Worth, offered as an enabling act to the Moffett constitutional amendment on soldier voting. It objected to the House inserted amendment to provide that the Martin bill would not become effective until and unless the Moffett amendment had been adopted by the people. The bill now goes to a conference committee to adjust differences.

Rules Suspended

The Senate suspended the rules to permit introduction of a G. I. bill of education, offered by Sen. Wardlow Lane of Center. Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo and Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo. The measure would authorize free tuition in state colleges for veterans regardless of whether funds for this purpose are provided by the Federal government.

The House set for special order May 8 at joint resolution submitting a constitutional amendment for a $25,000,000 bond issue with which to buy land for release to veterans of World War II. Two bills which set up the mechanics of the veterans' land sale are still before the Public Lands Committee.

Senate Concurrence Needed One Point

AUSTIN, May 3.—(AP)—Senate concurrence in one minor amendment was all that was needed today to send to the governor's desk a bill appropriating $343,800 in the next biennium for state aid to 22 public junior colleges.

The house finally approved the bill yesterday making only one change, the addition of Blinn Memorial College, Brenham, to the list of grantees.

The appropriation was based on a $60 per capita distribution, an increase of $10 over the current per capita for this purpose.

Also passed in the house, with an amendment, was a senate bill intended as enabling legislation for a constitutional amendment to be submitted Aug 25 which would grant members of the armed forces the right to vote without payment of a poll tex, if otherwise qualified.

The House killed a senate bill which would have permitted the State Board of Education to purchase and distribute public school text books. Present law authorizes the board to buy the books and the state department of education to distribute them.

The senate yesterday worked inconclusively on two house approved resolutions proposing submission of two constitutional amendments. One seeks to place a limitation on state spending for old age assistance and other phases of the public welfare program and the other seeks to prevent diversion of road use taxes to purposes other than road construction and maintenance.

The welfare spending resolution was laid aside for reframing and adjournment cut off debate on the road use tax proposal.

School District Transfers

AUSTIN, May 3.—(AP)—A bill by Rep. Preston Smith of Lubbock concerning transfer of land from the Abernathy Independent School District, Hale county, to the shallow-water district, Lubbock county, will be considered by the house school district committee today at a time to be set in accordance with adjournment of the house.

Smith said the purpose of his bill is to secure for the Shallow-water School District which now comprises only 70 sections, an additional 30 sections in order to have the 100 sections needed to qualify for maximum school bus transportation aid.

Eighteen of the additional sections would be acquired from Abernathy out of land already extending beyond the county line, and the remaining 12 obtained from a reshuffling of Lubbock.

The Woman's Council of the First Christian Church will meet on Monday, May 7th, at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. B. D. Pickens, 824 West Seventh Avenue with Miss Maude Stroud, Mrs. O. W. Williams, Mrs. R. M. Whitten as co-hostesses, and Mrs. R. P. Garrett as leader of the study discus- Worth following a visit in the home sion in "Island Areas of the Pacific."
